PART II: VOCABULARY IN CONTEXT

Conversation with Mounir: What do you usually have for breakfast?

+ Me: Hello, Mounir! How are you doing?

- Mounir: I am good. Thanks. And you?

+ Me: Well, I am fine. But as you can tell from my voice, I didn't fully recover from that flu I got last week unfortunately.

- Mounir: I feel sorry for you, Mr. Baba. I wish you a speedy recovery!

+ Me: Thank you. But as for you, you seem quite energetic today. What did you have for breakfast, Mounir?

- Mounir: Yeah! I had a healthy breakfast today.

I had a toast with two boiled eggs and home-made yogurt along with a cup of coffee.

+ Me: Good for you, Mounir! That will keep you energetic for the entire day.

Do you always have a healthy breakfast like that one?

- Mounir: Yeah! I always have a healthy breakfast except for the weekends.

+ Me: Really!? How about the weekends? What do you have for breakfast on the weekends?

- Mounir: Well, on the weekends I prefer to satisfy my craving for sugar and sugary-foods. I always have a toast with jam. Sometimes, I add a croissant or doughnut but I never eat muffins because I don't like them.
